To: Trialists

Re: Mentoring help

You have a colleague who just got her MPH from a major university and is interested in being a trialists. Her research project was an apprenticeship in a coordinating center for a multicenter trial. The experience ignited her interest in pursuing a career as a trialist and has been scouring catalogs to find a place she might go for training. She finds a few places with a course or two related to clinical trials but nothing substantial. She asks for your advice. What do you tell her?
